Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

This turn-of-the-century house faces west onto Solomons Island Road. It is a two-story framed and weatherboarded structure built with a T form distinguished by a centered west-facing wing which accommodates the three-bay facade of the house. The first-floor facade is composed of a side doorway and a row of three windows. The second story facade is fenestrated with three single bays. These and all other windows have two-over-two double-hung sash. The north, west and south sides of the front-facing wing are sheltered by a one-story hipped-roof porch supported by turned posts. The southernmost segment of this porch has been enclosed. Asbestos shingles have replaced the original weatherboarding. A low decorative concrete-block wall delineates the front edge of the lot.
